Record Paint Pouring

by Miss Emily at Eaton Branch Library

Paint pouring is a super unique and easy way of creating designs. This is one craft where talent doesn't matter. Just pour your paint and watch it form its own design!

(WARNING: This craft will be messy! Make sure you're prepared.)

This kit includes:

- 1 record
- 3 colors of pouring paint
- Coconut oil serum
- Popsicle sticks (for stirring)
- Plastic cups

Record Paint Pouring

by Miss Emily at Eaton Branch Library

Directions:

1. Spread newspapers, etc. in the area where you will be working. (You might also want to wear gloves if you have any!)
2. Pour one color into each cup. You will also have an extra cup; leave that empty for now.
3. Add 1-2 drops of coconut milk serum to each color. Mix thoroughly with the popsicle sticks.
4. Once everything is stirred, pour one color into the empty cup at a time. Keep doing this until your original paint cups are empty.
5. Take the full paint cup and flip it upside down on your record.
6. Tilt the record back and forth to move the paint around. Add any paint that has accumulated at the bottom of the cup, if necessary.
7. Once you are satisfied with your pattern, lay the record down to dry. (Pouring paint can take awhile to dry fully, so let it sit for 2-3 days.)
